LEAVING PRISON?

Let us help you reconnect with services in your community

RECONNECT

A free 'care after custody' service, putting you in touch with local health and support services close to where you live

Run by Derbyshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust in Derby and Derbyshire

What is Reconnect?

Reconnect is a free NHS service that aims to improve the continuity of care of people being released from prisons and immigration removal centres.

We know that it can be difficult to go from a prison setting back into the community, and people often struggle with their health and wellbeing as a result.

The Reconnect team are here to help, by introducing you to services close to where you live that can help with your health, wellbeing and much more.

How does Reconnect work?

The Reconnect team can work with you from 12 weeks before your release and for up to six months after your release.

We are a 'signposting' and support service: we don't provide you with any health or care treatments directly, but we find out what you need and connect you with the right people.

Some of the help we can give you:

Face-to-face sessions before your release, to find out your needs

'Meet and greet' at the prison gates

Registering with a GP (doctor's surgery)

Booking appointments and advice on getting to appointments

Filling in forms and making applications for support

Information on healthy living and community groups

Who runs the Reconnect service?

The Reconnect service for Derby and Derbyshire is run by a small, friendly team who are part of Derbyshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust.

We are based in Foston Hall and Sudbury prisons. We also have offices in Derby and Chesterfield.

Derbyshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust provides a number of health services locally like family health services, mental health services and drug and alcohol support services. So we can quickly put you in touch with these services, as well as many others.

Why not give us a try?
